

And God said, Let there be light: and there was light.

— Genesis 1:3 —

Supernatural

The universe is supernatural. It was created from another dimension, a spiritual dimension called heaven. God said, "Let there be light," and there was light, in every wavelength of the spectrum: some we can see with our eyes, some we can only detect with specific instruments, and some we may have not even yet discovered.

Atoms are light. Light is the energy that powers the creation. All matter is made of atoms. All matter is light. But matter itself isn't alive. Life is also supernatural.

The spark of life is spirit. And that Spirit is God. Without spirit, they will never produce life in a laboratory. They are missing the main ingredient. Even if they could produce life in a laboratory, with already existing ingredients, it would still be intelligent design.
